BIGGEST MUSICAL SUCCESS WITHIN MEMORY OF MAN"

What a Great Critic Says of This Wonderful Show Sept. 24, 1915.

Dear Mr. Wayburn:—
You have "beaten 'em" in every conceivable way—ideas, cast, scenic equipment and music. I rubbed my eyes in amazement. It was as though a magician's wand had materialized all that a vivid imagination could wish to imagine.
I congratulate you.

there will be found to be more than ordinarily supposed. The continued rains and warm weather did not injure materially the chestnuts and there will be plenty in the mountain counties.

Hickory nuts also are reported as showing signs of being abundant in those portions where the trees survive. but there are doubts about the walnut crop in some counties. Beechnuts, co-cording to sportsmen, largely have dis-appeared and this is one reason why it has been so hard to keep wild turkeys alive. In years gone by the turkeys and other game lived on beechnuts, but this food supply practically has disappeared.
